Privacy Policy at DNASense APS

We only collect personal data in cases where this should be relevant to us, and we will only collect personal data if it is relevant to your activity at DNASense ApS.

When collecting, processing, and using your personal data, we always comply with all relevant and applicable legal provisions.

We will only store your personal data for as long as we are either subject to a legal obligation to do so, or as long as it is relevant to the purpose for which it was collected.

Information we collect

DNASense ApS collects and processes your personal data when you do the following:

- Visit our website
- Sends us questions, complaints, or feedback

Cookies

The website uses "cookies", which is a text file that is stored on your computer, mobile etc. similarly for the purpose of recognizing it, remembering settings, performing statistics, and targeting ads. However, cookies may not contain malicious code such as virus.

It is possible for you to delete or block cookies. You can do this by following these instructions: <http://minecookies.org/cookiehandtering>

If you follow the instructions and delete or block cookies, then the ads you see will only become less relevant to you, while they will appear more frequently. At the same time, you may also risk that the website does not work optimally, and that there is content that you can not access.

Basis of treatment and purpose

We collect your general contact information such as name and address to deliver the product or service that you have purchased from us. We will collect your e-mail address to send you an order confirmation and a delivery confirmation.

Your information (except your e-mail address, if you have given consent to its processing for the purpose of receiving offers) will be deleted 2 years after you have received your item or service.

Other recipients of personal information

We do not sell your personal data to third parties, and we do not transfer your personal data to third countries.

We have our website at one.com, which acts as our data processor. All personal data that you provide on our website will be stored in one.com's data centers.

We use external companies as suppliers to deliver our services in the best possible way. These external suppliers are data processors and, in some cases, process personal data in connection with their provision of services to us. Our data processors only process personal data in accordance with our instructions and in accordance with the legal requirements for data processors.

We have entered into data processor agreements with our data processors, which is ours and your guarantee that they comply with the applicable rules on the protection of your personal data.

Your rights

As the registered person, you have certain rights, DNASense must ensure to always fulfill. You have the right to request us the following:

- To access and change your personal data

- To have personal data deleted

In addition, you have the right to object to the processing of your personal data and you have the right to lodge a complaint with a data protection authority.

If you no longer wish us to process your personal data or to restrict the processing of your personal data, you can also send us a request to:
